Flag Day

Since the early days of our history, the American flag has represented freedom...which is very fragile in our world today...and our country's ideals of liberty and justice for all.

The idea of an annual day specifically celebrating our flag is believed to have originated in 1885. BJ Cigrand, a schoolteacher, arranged for the students in the Fredonia, WI, Public School, District 6, to observe June 14 (the 108th anniversary of the adoption of the Stars & Stripes) as "Flag Birthday." Over the following years, he continued to advocate observance of June 14 as "Flag Birthday" or "Flag Day." Several other schools in other states started to observe Flag Day.

The observances spread and three decades later, Flag Day...the anniversary of the Flag Resolution of 1777...was officially established by the Proclamation of Woodrow Wilson on May 30, 1916. While Flag Day was celebrated in various communities for years after President Wilson's proclamation, it was not until August 3, 1949 that President Truman signed an Act of Congress designating June 14 as National Flag Day.

In 1942, after the United States entered into WWII, our country celebrated a more poignant Flag Day. President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, during these dark days, broadcast his Flag Day speech to the nation, closing with this prayer to the nation:

*The Spirit of man has awakened
The Soul of man has gone forth*

Grant us the wisdom and the vision to comprehend the greatness of man's Spirit that suffers and endures so hugely for a goal beyond his own brief span

*We are all of us children of Earth Grant us that simple knowledge
If our brothers are oppressed, then we are oppressed
If they hunger, we hunger
If their freedom is taken away, our freedom is not secure*

*Grant us a common faith, that man shall know bread and peace
That he shall know justice and righteousness, Freedom and security, an equal opportunity, and an equal chance to do his best,
not only in our own lands, but throughout the world.*

And in that faith, let us march, march toward the clean world, our hands can make. Amen

This prayer is still relevant today.
