November 4-5, 2017

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

“Christ has no body now on earth but yours, no hands but yours, no feet but yours. Yours are the eyes through which to look out Christ's compassion to the world. Yours are the feet with which he is to go about doing good. Yours are the hands with which he is to bless men now.”

These beautiful words from St. Teresa of Avila remind us of our baptismal call to serve God and one another. Every parishioner contributes to the vitality of one's parish. Each of us is to be the hands and feet of Christ. Our talents, gifts and resources are uniquely our own, selected specifically for us by God. We, as stewards of these gifts, are called to accept His gifts with gratitude; to develop and nurture His gifts responsibly; to share His gifts with generosity and have a willingness to accept His call without counting the cost.

On this Stewardship Sunday, I ask you to prayerfully reflect upon your unique gifts and talents. I invite you to open your heart and ask yourself: “How will I respond to God's call? How can I use my gifts and talents to serve my parish, community and God? How can I be the hands and feet of Christ?”

I am thankful to the many women, men and children who serve in our parishes in a wide variety of ministries throughout the year. I encourage those who might be hesitant, to talk with your pastor about those ministries in your parish where you can participate. Please also take a moment to encourage and invite others to share in your parish ministries. Many times, a kind word of encouragement will plant the seeds of faith in others as we answer God's call to serve.

May God continue to bless the work of your hands and may His blessing be upon you and your family.

Faithfully yours in Christ,

Most Reverend Terry R. LaValley

Bishop of Ogdensburg
